

Write a poem based on my five senses

A large rectangular box with a black border, containing 13 horizontal lines for writing. The lines are evenly spaced and extend across most of the width of the box. The first line is shorter than the others and is centered horizontally. The remaining 12 lines are longer and are aligned to the left margin of the box.